Reflection & Living Stewardship

In today's Gospel, Jesus says that God is glorified when a disciple, grafted in Christ, produces abundantly and bears much fruit. The disciple must then be a good steward of that abundance.

We are grateful this week for all stewards in our parish who share their gift of hospitality with others, especially through ministries such as greeters, ushers and/or a welcome committee.

Please pray for the women and men in our Military and their families and friends as they selflessly protect and defend our nation against all forms of terrorism. May God protect them from all harm and grant them peace in their hearts during this Eastertide!

Charismatic Prayer Group

You know those pill boxes marked "Sunday to Saturday" with a box for each day's pills? Well, some people think of Jesus as fitting only in their Sunday box of worship, and that their "Monday to Saturday" boxes are too full to fit Him in! Come learn how to get Jesus into ALL the boxes and see how much better your week will be. Bring a friend...even better - bring an enemy!!!

Our next meeting is Monday, May 7th at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall. Call 516-993-9672 for answers to any questions or for prayer intentions.

Letter from the Pastor

I was lying in my bed happily listening to the radio about the exploits of the New York Rangers winning the first round of the Stanley Cup Playoffs against the Ottawa Senators. It was about 6:30 a.m., and I figured to have a few more minutes of leisure before I arose for breakfast and our community prayers. Suddenly, I heard the sound of knocking at my door. It was Sue, our Sacristan, asking me if I was coming over for the 6:30 a.m. Mass. I told her yes. Within five minutes, unshaved and looking like an unmade bed, I was on the altar saying the Lord be with you. I had forgotten that I had the early Mass. Three days later, I made the same mistake again. It is not that I am a sleepyhead; my problem is one of reading lists correctly. I may have to take remedial reading 101!

In the same way, I caused considerable confusion by putting in the bulletin that there would a Holy Hour on Thursday, and then announcing at all the Masses it would be on Monday. Unfortunately, my mistake caused some people to miss the Holy Hour. Only the Pope is infallible. I am far from it. Just look at the many losing teams that I root for as proof of that. So I apologize, a bit embarrassed, but fully aware of my imperfections.

During the last two weeks, we had presentations on the Catholic Ministry Appeals. Some people told me that they liked the presentations while others told me that I should not have scheduled them. They were not angry at me but I was told of the resentments they feel at times to the Diocese and the Bishop. Over the past weeks, the news has reported that the Holy Father and the Vatican are concerned about some of the leadership of the American Nuns and want to supervise them more closely. As always, some Catholics were very discouraged with this news since they hold the dedicated work of the Sisters in high esteem, while others felt it was about time the Vatican acted to challenge some of the Sisters. In Philadelphia, a Monsignor is on trial at the present time, not for sexual abuse that he himself did, but for his work as a personnel director, since he is accused of knowingly assigning high-risk priests to situations where they might abuse children. I find these stories very discouraging at times, and I want to blame someone: the media, the lawyers, the abusive priests, some of the leaders of the Church, the liberals, or the conservatives.

There is no doubt we are a very flawed human Church. We have had some very dark moments in our history, and we continue to be susceptible to the power of sin. But when I think of the first group of disciples, I take heart since they too were so sinful at times. Peter our first Pope, denied Christ three times. Judas betrayed our Lord for thirty-pieces of silver. Thomas doubted the Risen Christ. John and James had their mother asked Jesus to put them at the head of the apostles. All the apostles left Jesus alone on the cross, except for John. What a flawed crowd Christ chose to build his Church and to spread his Gospel!

The very fact that our Church continues to this day, that we continue to celebrate the Eucharist, preach the Gospel, baptize, forgive sins, educate our young, bury our dead in faith, feed the poor, speak against injustice, forgive one another, and live with hope are clear signs to me that the Holy Spirit, sent by Jesus through the love of the Father, is with our Church. The Catholic Church is always divine and graced, while also always sinful and human. We are the messy people of God dependent on the promised grace of the Holy Spirit. So, take heart and I promise to do better at checking the mass schedule so I do not miss the early mass.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM

understanding the basics • defending a right

God's Gift, America's Heritage (1 of 7)

To the west of Nassau and Suffolk counties, a tower in lower Manhattan, rising ever higher into the sky, bears the name of that which makes this nation great: freedom. America is synonymous with freedom. It is the hallmark of our republic.

Living in the land of the free, we inherit a legacy of liberty passed down from our founders. They put forth clearly and succinctly what freedom entails, enshrining the basic rights of every American in our nation's founding documents, most especially in the Bill of Rights. It was the genius of the American project to take what belongs to each person by virtue of their human dignity, their God-given liberties, and place these freedoms at the heart of a democratic society. In the United States, rights and freedoms were no longer the domain of rulers to parcel out. Here, those God-given rights were documented for all to see and none to snatch.

As believers, we hold especially dear our nation's guarantee to religious freedom and freedom of conscience. When the Bill of Rights was ratified in 1789, this freedom had the distinction of being the First Amendment. "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof," our founders wisely declared. The United States Conference of Catholic Bishops Ad Hoc Committee for Religious Liberty's recent statement Our First, Most Cherished Liberty stresses the esteem with which those first citizens regarded this right.

"By the end of the 18th century, our nation's founders embraced freedom of religion as an essential condition of a free and democratic society. James Madison, often called the Father of the Constitution, described conscience as 'the most sacred of all property.' He wrote that 'the Religion then of every man must be left to the conviction and conscience of every man; and it is the right of every man to exercise it as these may dictate.' George Washington wrote that 'the establishment of Civil and Religious Liberty was the Motive that induced me to the field of battle.'"

With this appreciation of religious liberty firmly in place alongside other freedoms, the founders and a new nation set out on a bold experiment. Over the centuries, injustices in the application of our fundamental rights were overcome despite resistance and because of courage: freedom would no longer be conditioned by color; suffrage would belong to all. Setbacks came with growth, most egregiously when the fundamental right to life was denied to our most vulnerable, the unborn. However, as our union strove to become more perfect, respect for our fundamental rights, including our right to religious liberty and freedom of conscience, seemed assured. That is, until recently.

"As a community of faith, we must commit ourselves to prayer and fasting that wisdom and justice may prevail and religious liberty be restored."

BISHOP WILLIAM MURPHY

PRAYER

Almighty God, Father of all nations, for freedom you have set us free in Christ Jesus (Gal. 5:1).

We praise and bless you for the gift of religious liberty, the foundation of human rights, justice, and the common good. Grant to our leaders the wisdom to protect and promote our liberties. By your grace may we have the courage to defend them, for ourselves and for all those who live in this blessed land.

We ask this through the intercession of Mary Immaculate, our patroness, and in the name of your Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, in the unity of the Holy Spirit, with whom you live and reign, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

RESPECT LIFE COMMITTEE TRANSFORMING TODAY'S NURSING HOMES

Most current nursing homes were built like hospitals, with long, depressing halls and large nursing stations. Transformation may include physical renovation, creating comfortable common areas, remaking a huge, institutional dining room into several small rooms that look and feel more like home, even removing a nursing station and replacing it with indoor waterfall and pond. Many transformed homes are linked to the Eden Alternative (www.EdenAlt.org) which advocates having children, plants, and pets in the homes. Some of the children are volunteers, while others are in child-care centers in the homes or locations nearby, so seniors can interact with them often. Dr. Thomas (Eden Alternative founder) has written, children's "play, laughter and song are potent medicines for the elderly." The pets, cats, dogs, parakeets, cockatiels, rabbits and more, also live in the homes and provide welcome companionship for residents. There are outdoor gardens, including ones that provide fresh vegetables for the seniors. (They are encouraged to help with gardening if they can.) The gardens really fit in, since the Eden Alternative is named for the garden of Eden. Many other homes, though not affiliated with Eden, now challenge everything from rigid staff roles to loud buzzers and public-address systems. And, instead of placing all elders on the same sleeping schedule, transformed homes let them stay up late at night and sleep late in the morning. While the early stages of changing a nursing home involve extra costs, a successful transformation reduces drug costs, and the great expense of rapid staff turnover.
